

Fire Mechanics Summer Workshop

Join us for 3 days of professional development with an important focus on leadership building skills. This workshop was developed with professionals like you in mind.

Speaker Judy Ruhl

Fox Valley Technical College

This immersive 22-hour leadership class prepares fire officers and aspiring leaders to navigate the real-world challenges of supervising in the fire service. Participants will explore the fundamentals of effective supervision while gaining practical tools for leading different personalities, building trust, and fostering a positive, resilient crew culture.

The course blends group dialogue, hands-on activities, and scenario-based learning to help leaders communicate with impact, manage time and operational priorities, and delegate confidently. Participants will also practice giving and receiving constructive feedback—a critical skill in high-stakes, fast-paced environments.
